Sedan Plunges 60 Feet

Car's Dive Hurts Man Slightly

A 48-year-old East End man escaped with comparatively minor injuries this morning when this 1966 model sedan plunged off the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." and rolled 60 feet over a steep hillside toward State St. before halting on a lawn just short of a home.

Milford A. Carter of 1166 Harker Ave. was treated at City Hospital for a fractured left arm and cuts about the head after the spectacular crash at 7:03 a. m. that also leveled a school zone blinker signal, damaged a city-owned guardrail and tore up shrubbery and rutted the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Beaver of 854 State St.

Carter told Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins his eastbound auto was forced off the "Hill Rd." by an oncoming car. The investigation is continuing.

The crash occurred about 300 yards west of State St., officers said. The car, which came to rest on its top after knocking over a tree in the Beaver's yard, was written off as a total loss in the police report.

A Chester man was injured in another collision at the scene of the crash.

Frank Mader Jr., 35, of 10th St., Chester, complained of neck pains after his 1966 four-door sedan was hit from the rear at 8:15 a. m. at Pennsylvania Ave. and State St., police said.

Mader's auto was struck by a 1962 two-door sedan driven by Barbara E. Banks, 21, of 511 Wedgewood St., who said her attention was distracted momentarily by the flashing red lights of a police car at the scene, officers said.

Mader said he halted in a line of traffic and his car was hit from the rear. The woman said her attention was distracted by the flashing lights and the street again it was too late to stop.

The mishap damaged the trunk lid and rear bumper of Mader's car and the right front fender and bumper of the Banks auto, officers said. Patrolman L. E. Richard investigated.

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today that allied forces in Vietnam are winning the war, "slowly but steadily," but he urged McNamara to provide more battle troops to "step up pressure on the enemy by reinforcing our mounting successes."

The U.S. commander in Vietnam, opening the first briefing of McNamara's ninth visit to Vietnam, declared: "North Vietnam is paying a tremendous price with nothing to show for it in return. The war is not a stalemate. We are winning, slowly but steadily."

The briefing at the U.S. Army's headquarters at Tan Son Air Base was secret, but an account of it was given newsmen by an official U.S. spokesman. Despite the official optimism relayed from the conference, well informed sources contended the conferences with McNamara have something of a crisis atmosphere. Because of the steadily mounting enemy force and the brutal fighting along the demilitarized zone, they say decisions which come out of the meeting will be vital to the course of the war. It is generally agreed here that tens of thousands of new U.S. troops will be sent to South Vietnam, the only question being how many and how fast.

Westmoreland is believed pressing for 100,000 troops more than the 475,000 now authorized him, a number that probably would mean calling up some reservists. South Vietnam's generals would like more.

McNamara is expected to continue with briefings in Saigon Saturday and then go into the field for on-the-spot checks Sunday and Monday.

Westmoreland was believed to have discussed in detail the recent large North Vietnamese buildup which has added at least three new divisions, or about 37,000 men, to the fighting in the South since Jan. 1. The United States has committed one new division, about 16,000 men, in the same time. The new U.S. division is in the Mekong Delta, the Communist ones all to the north.

Westmoreland and his aides were expected to argue that the present supply and support establishment in Vietnam can be stretched to handle a major influx of new combat units with a minimum of additional clerks, mechanics and supply men.

The U.S. commander also was expected to put much emphasis on the Communist threat to the Central Highlands and below the demilitarized zone, the two current crisis points of the war. Of the three U.S. corps area commanders, only Marine Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman was present, apparently a reflection of the gravity of the military situation in the five northern provinces where Cushman's Marines are under constant attack.

The secretary is expected to visit rear command posts in both the highlands and Cushman's area as well as look at pacification teams at work in some of the more secure areas.

Marines Kill 150 Of Reds Below DMZ

2 B52s Collide And Crash; Communists Down 600th Plane

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. B52s collided and crashed off South Vietnam today, the Communists brought down the 600th U.S. combat plane reported lost over North Vietnam, and U.S. Marines claimed 150 North Vietnamese troops killed just below the demilitarized zone.

The aerial losses and ground success were recorded as U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara began his ninth visit to Vietnam with a day-long briefing at which the U.S. military command sought to convince him of the need for 100,000 to 200,000 more U.S. troops in Vietnam.

In the ground war, a company of Marines spotted 200 Red troops moving in the open northeast of Con Thien. Officers at the 3rd Marine Division headquarters at Phu Bai said the Marines boxed the North Vietnamese in with automatic weapons fire and artillery barrages and killed 150 of them.

But North Vietnamese gunners kept up a murderous barrage against Con Thien and the other Leatherneck bases just below the demilitarized zone. A spokesman said the Red gunners fired nearly 1,000 rounds Thursday-804 of them into the Con Thien area — killing 12 Marines and wounding 30.

The 600th plane lost was a Marine A4 Skyhawk bomber which was among flocks of warplanes attacking the North Vietnamese gun positions in and above the demilitarized zone. The Marine pilot was rescued with a broken leg today after

Lake Milton Crash Kills Salem Man

Virgil H. Rupp, 24, Loses Life When Auto Rams Tree

A Salem area man was killed and a Berlin Center man was injured critically when the 1963 auto in which they were passengers smashed into a large tree early this morning at Lake Milton.

Pronounced dead on arrival at South Side Hospital in Youngstown was Virgil Harold Rupp, 24, son of Mrs. Alice Baird of Western Reserve Rd., Salem R.D. 4 (Mahoning County).

Listed in serious condition is Robert Miller, 21, of Berlin Center, who suffered a fractured skull, fractured right elbow, shock and multiple lacerations.

Mahoning County deputies said the driver, John W. Hartzell, 32, of Berlin Center escaped with contusions of the right hip when he was thrown from the two-door sedan.

He will be charged with reckless operation, but the investigation of the accident is continuing, deputies said.

Deputies said Hartzell was traveling south, just off Route 18, when he lost control on a sharp "S" curve. The auto went off the left side of the road, struck a traffic sign and then continued an additional 150 feet before smashing into the tree. The crash was timed at 2:30 a.m.

Mr. Rupp's body was taken to the Arbaugh - Pearce Funeral Home in Salem. Arrangements are incomplete.

Claim Fighters Recruited By 'International Mafia'

Government Radio Says Congolese Regain Bukavu From Mercenaries

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Congolese government radio claimed today that the Congo's army has regained control of Bukavu and part of Kisanangani from white mercenary fighters who the Congolese government told the U.N. Security Council were recruited by "an international Mafia."

The claim by Radio Kinshasa, in the Congolese capital, was relayed by the Belgian Radio.

Kisanangani, formerly Stanleyville, and Bukavu, chief city in Kivu Province, were the two points at which Congolese President Joseph Mobutu claimed mercenaries attacked earlier this week.

The 15-nation U.N. Security Council scheduled another meeting this afternoon to consider Congolese Ambassador Theodore Idzumbur's plea that it urge member states to ban recruitment of mercenaries for an alleged plot to overthrow Mobutu.

Heavy fighting was reported in eastern Kivu Province. Congolese military sources in the area said three army battalions on Thursday had surrounded 200 white mercenaries who had seized control of the post office and radio station in Bukavu, on the Congo's east central border north of Kanta Province, former stronghold of ex-Premier Moise Tshombe.

It is widely believed that the mercenaries are acting on behalf of Tshombe, who was kidnapped on a flight in the Balearic Islands last week and taken to Algeria. Mobutu's government in seeking his extradition so it can execute him on a treason charge, having convicted him in absentia.

The government radio in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, announced that all Congolese 18 through 25, both male and female, had been ordered to register under a total mobilization order.

Idzumbur told the Security Council the mercenaries aimed to replace Mobutu with a "more docile leader" subservient to colonial interests. He did not identify the leader, but it was assumed he meant Tshombe, who was accused of being a tool of foreign business interests because of his attempt to split mineral-rich Katanga from the Congo in 1960-63.

The U.S. government began evacuating Americans from Bukavu and proclaimed support for Mobutu's government.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said 46 of the 65 American citizens in the Bukavu area, including 21 children, have been moved into neighboring Rwanda. He said the rest of the Americans, mainly missionaries, were proceeding to Rwanda in separate groups.

A small U.S. consulate staff is staying on at Bukavu.

Rusk Claims U.S. Ready To Talk Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, unruffled by a smattering of antiwar jeers and signs, told a huge audience that the United States is ready to discuss peace in Vietnam "without conditions of any sort."

Rusk spoke at Chicago Stadium Thursday before 15,000 persons attending the 50th annual convention of Lions International.

"We are willing to put on the table a calendar of withdrawal by American forces if we can find on the table the calendar of withdrawal by the North Vietnamese forces," Rusk asserted.

He said that so far no one has been able to produce "a real live North Vietnamese" that he could talk with concerning peaceful settlement of the Vietnam conflict.

Emergency Clause Reinserted Wetzel Pushes Measure For Wellsville Levy Vote

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A legal roadblock against a special school election in Wellsville next month was lifted another notch in a committee of the Ohio Senate Thursday.

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel, R-Columbiana, was able to persuade the Ways and Means Committee Thursday to reinsert an emergency clause in a bill to increase from one to two the number of special elections a school district is permitted in a calendar year.

The emergency rider failed by five votes to pass the House along with the bill two weeks ago, but Wetzel assured the committee he could muster a least 17 more votes in the House if the Senate were to approve his bill as an emergency.

Without the emergency rider, the bill could not take effect until 90 days after passage, too late to permit Wellsville school officials to follow their plan to resubmit a 5-mill additional operating levy to voters.

Voters rejected the levy May 2 for the fourth straight time, forcing school officials to announce cuts in the district's athletic programs, instrumental music, kindergarten and extended services.

Wetzel said an August election would give voters another chance to reconsider the need for additional funds before school opens in September.

The need for a second special election was supported in testimony before the committee by

Viet Spending May Promote Tight Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate-House Economic Committee says U.S. spending in Vietnam the next 12 months likely will outstrip administration estimates and could bring on a second year of tight money on the homefront.

The congressional study panel blamed the administration for causing fiscal 1967's money shortages and soaring interest rates by badly underestimating war costs.

"The same dreary cycle of events threatens again," said the committee in a report Thursday.

"Total spending on the war in Vietnam during the fiscal year just ending will double the administration's original estimates," said the committee. "And there are already signs that actual spending on the war in the upcoming fiscal year may

Major Policies Unresolved

Tax, Apportion Issues Assigned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thorny problems of higher taxes and apportionment have been assigned to House and Senate subcommittees with major policy matters unresolved on both issues.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee took the spotlight Thursday and Thursday night as it heard four hours of heated opposition testimony to the administration's tax bill to raise an additional $252 million for education.

A score of witnesses emphasized they see a need for the additional school funds but disagree with one suggested means of raising it — a proposed 1 per cent tax on retail sales. Those who testified presented a strange coalition that included the Ohio Retail Merchants Association and the Ohio AFL-CIO, which almost always are in separate camps.

Committee Chairman Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati assigned the omnibus tax bill to a subcommittee headed by Sen. Harry V. Jump R-13 Huron. Maloney named himself and two others to the subcommittee and said it could draft a bill within two weeks.

Earlier, Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion and his Elections, Commerce, and Labor committee heard testimony on two proposed plans to redistrict the legislature.

Another tax proposal, which would permit counties to levy up to 5 per cent of utility bills for welfare and other local obligations, went to a subcommittee of the Ohio House Taxation Committee.

Floor sessions drew less attention than usual during the week because of key work in committees although several important bills cleared the House and Senate Thursday.

The House voted 83-11 to add a 24th member to the State Board of Education, to be elected from Ohio's 24th congressional district acquired as a result of population gains in the 1960 census.

Alternative To Gross Receipts Levy

Ohio AFL-CIO Proposes Series Of Business Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio AFL-CIO has proposed a series of taxes on businesses as an alternative to the apparently ill-fated gross receipts levy in the administration's omnibus tax hike bill.

Warren J. Smith, secretary-treasurer, outlined the proposal Thursday night and hit at the proposed levy on retail sales receipts as being "unfair because it places the entire burden on the shoulders of consumers."

His testimony came at the end of four hours of heated testimony before the Senate Ways and Means Committee which is considering the bill to provide $252 million in additional funds for education during the 1967-69 biennium. The bill later was sent to a subcommittee that includes Ways and Means Chairman Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati and Sens. Harry Jump R-13 Huron, Ralph Regula R-29 Navarre, Stark, and Anthony Novak D-23 Cleveland.

Smith suggested enactment of legislation to impose: Severance tax on coal, oil, and other natural resources which would raise $15 million a year; elimination of "direct use" exemptions in the 3 per cent sales tax, yield $100 million a year; imposing a flat 2 per cent levy on gross premiums on all insurance companies, yield $6 million a year; repeal of the state sales and corporate franchise tax on state banks and a one mill increase in the intangible tax on deposits and stockholders shares.

Smith was the 20th witness to appear before the committee which listened but asked few questions of witnesses who included an assortment of retailers who attacked the gross receipts tax as being unfair, ridiculous, a nightmare, and with numerous other adjectives.

George Hammond, executive director of the Ohio Retail Merchants Association, as did other witnesses, said there was no question as to the need to provide more money for schools but that the gross receipts tax is not the way to raise it.

He outlined for the committee the merchants' alternate plan which would reduce the 3 per cent sales tax to 2 per cent but expand it to include all services.

One witness, David E. Ott, Mansfield pharmacist, who called the gross receipts "unfair, unrealistic and repugnant," suggested that the idea was so bad that perhaps the persons who suggested it were not sincere.

"I find it difficult to believe that those responsible for drafting... were sincere about it, because of the patently unfair approach and its obnoxious attitude concerning the generally accepted taxing principle—'ability to pay'."

Queen Knights Chichester For His Solo World Voyage

GREENWICH, England (AP)—Surrounded by relics of Britannia's once-glorious rule of the waves, Queen Elizabeth II dubbed Sir Francis Chichester a knight today for his courageous solo voyage around the world.

The queen laid Sir Francis Drake's broadsword on each shoulder of the lean 65-year-old mariner.

Afterward Chichester took the queen and her husband, Prince Philip, for a tour of his 53-foot ketch Gipsy Moth IV, tied up at the dock in front of the Royal Naval College.

The knighting ceremony was watched by two thousand invited guests and millions saw it on television.

Thousands lined the banks of the Thames.

Hundreds of boats hoisted and whooped a welcome with their horns as Gipsy Moth, her sails furled on the sunny, windless morning, came three miles up the river under auxiliary power from Woolwich. Chichester had spent the night there after sailing around from Plymouth, where he began his 28,500-mile circuit of the globe last year and completed it May 28.

It was the first time within memory that a knight had been dubbed in public. Usually the ceremony takes place at Buckingham Palace, but today arrangements were made to recall the first Queen Elizabeth's dubbing of Drake, a remote ancestor of Chichester. That took place on April 4, 1851, a few miles up the Thames at Deptford. The queen had attended a banquet aboard Drake's flagship, the Golden Hind, back from circling the globe on a commercial adventure of exploration for the monarch determined to assert England's greatness.

LISBON — George Hancock, 22, of 1200 Oak St., East Liverpool, forfeited a $10 appearance bond in mayor's court Thursday on a charge of failure to yield the right of way. Police said Hancock was driving west on N. Park Ave. on the Square at 8:55 a.m. yesterday, pulled onto N. Market St. (Route 45) and struck the left side of a southbound sedan operated by Helen E. Smith, 53, of Lisbon R.D. 5. No one was injured.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: What kind of faith justified us?
ANSWER: The Bible teaches that we are saved by faith? In Heb. 11:6 we read that "without faith it is impossible to please God." Romans 5:1 says that we are "justified by faith."

But to just give "mental assent" to the fact that Jesus is the Son of God and that He died for our sins is not enough. James 2:17 says, "Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone." A dead faith cannot justify anyone. In 1 Cor. 15:2 Paul mentioned a vain faith which cannot save.

The faith that saves is the faith that obeys. Jesus is the author of eternal salvation to all those that obey Him (Heb. 5:9). If we are to be saved our faith must lead us in the pathway of obedience. The faith that saves is the faith that constrains us to repent (Lk. 13:3), confess Christ as God's son (Mt. 10:32), be baptized (1 Pet. 3:21), and to give diligence to make our calling and election sure (2 Pet. 1:10).

Memory A Golden Chain

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a golden chain.
Without it, our lives would be a series of unconnected episodes that held no lasting meaning to us, and we would be to one another no more than stones are in a common pasture.

It is hope that makes us human, but it is memory that keeps us human. It joins the nows of our existence with dear links to what has gone before and, in time, to what is yet to happen to us.

How unforgettably precious to us are those treasured bonds that make us what we are! For our identity as individuals is, to a degree we rarely realize, shaped by the memories we hold and their impact upon us.

Your own warehouse of memories is pretty well stocked if you can look back and remember when:

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who soaped a neighbor's window on Halloween.

Farmers were afraid to have a daughter go to work in a big city for fear she would fall into the clutches of a white-slave ring and be smuggled to South America.

Only business executives and other important people could afford to wear glasses with genuine tortoise shell rims.

It was easy to tell an old man were false teeth because they always made a clacking sound when he talked.

All small boys wore steel caps on the heels of their shoes to make them last longer.

A girl thought the fates had been unkind to her if she was born with straight instead of curly hair.

At railway terminals flocks of "red caps" jostled each other for the privilege of carrying your luggage at 10 cents a bag. The music during the silent era of the movies was provided by a big-bosomed, middle-aged, gum-chewing, frizzly blonde, who pounded the piano up front. Any young ruffian who dared to throw spitballs at her was immediately flung out of the theater.

Every Yale student was expected to have at least one love affair with a Manhattan chorus girl before getting his degree.

There were more Harvard professors at Harvard than there were in the government. Back in 1927, a slip of a girl named Helen Hayes won Broadway stardom in "Coquette." Al Smith ran for president in 1928, and many a hinterland voter decided he didn't want a man in the White House who not only was a Catholic but also pronounced radio "raddio."

More beer was sold in pails than in either bottles or cans. If there was a light in a home after midnight, it usually meant somebody was sick.

In small towns, people rarely locked the front door, even when they went on vacations. Those were the days! Remember?

Wellsville Jaycees Continue Plans For Pottery Festival

Two replies have been received from district potteries relative to the planned pottery festival, Wellsville Jaycees were told when the group met Thursday night.

The Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. of Chester has indicated it will enter a booth at the event, while the Hall China Co. of East Liverpool declined.

The club agreed to sponsor the Wellsville Jaycees Independent Band.

A dinner will be held Wednesday at 6 p.m. at the Jaycee Hall for the orientation of new members.

Franchise papers for the Junior Miss Pageant are being processed.

Members discussed the Jaycee Recognition Program to honor a member of the community, not a Jaycee, who has given great assistance to the club.

Flag sales were reported going well. The band has been conducting the sale.

The collection of delinquent dues and reactivation of dropped members were discussed.

William Telzow, president, pointed out improvements in the hall and announced that a newsletter will be published by Ralph Fusco and himself.

The next meeting will be Aug. 28.

Pastor Given Police Guard After Wife, Daughter Threat

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — A 24-hour police guard has been posted at the home of a clergyman who charges that an auto driver tried to run down his wife and small daughter because of his crusade against alleged civic corruption and organized crime in the city.

In addition, a spokesman at police headquarters said today, a policeman will accompany the Rev. Martin Duffy whenever he leaves his home.

The posting of a policeman outside the Congregational minister's home was announced Thursday by Police Commissioner George Kummerly.

The guard was announced shortly after the Rev. Mr. Duffy said he had wired Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for himself and his family requesting state protection "as I seek to pursue the struggle against organized crime, political corruption and racism in Mount Vernon."

The Rev. Mr. Duffy, who is white, is minister of the Vernon Heights Congregational church, which has a predominantly Negro congregation. A faction of the congregation, which contended that he spent too much time on civil rights and other outside activities, failed recently in a move to oust him.

The Rev. Mr. Duffy is one of a number of residents who have charged that organized crime is entrenched in this Westchester County suburb of New York City. The clergyman has said that "organized crime, protected by the political structure, controls Mount Vernon."

Mayor Joseph P. Vaccarella, a Democrat, has denied the charges. He suggests that they are a "political smokescreen" generated by persons seeking his post at the November election.

dards by the Public Health Council.

Co-sponsor Douglas Applegate D-33 Jefferson said the purpose of the bill "is to establish statewide standards for the regulation of what we know as garbage dumps or sanitary landfills."

Also passed by the House and sent to the Senate were proposals making it definite that children of Ohio National Guardsmen killed or injured while on duty are eligible for war orphan scholarships, changing "chirophy" to "podiatry" in state licensing laws to cover hand and foot specialists, and transferring abandoned canal land at St. Marys for municipal parking purposes.

The Senate passed seven bills but three involved corrections in the revised code and two others were routine land conveyance bills. The state would return 10 acres it obtained from Conneaut for industrial use, under one of the proposals. The Conneaut Chamber of Commerce gave the state the property in 1960 when there was a plan to erect an armory but the plan subsequently was canceled.

demonstrators gathered outside the stadium, carrying signs with antiwar slogans. Three protesters slipped into the huge arena and interrupted Rusk's talk with shouts of, "We want peace!"

The two men and one woman were quickly escorted from the stadium by ushers and police and were charged with disorderly conduct.

Rusk firmly stated that the United States will remain in Vietnam "until the right of the South Vietnamese people to work out their own future, under a government of their own free choice, has been secured."

Wages of four other clerks in the office were set, with two receiving $310, another $340 and the fourth, $285.

No raises were given deputy clerks in the office of the circuit court clerk. One receives $440 a month, and the other, $440.

Wages remain the same in the assessor's office. The salaries of seven year-round deputies were set with one receiving $545, another, $360, a third $310, two at $200, another at $100 and the seventh $150.

There are 12 part-time assessor's deputies who will work three or four months depending on the work-load for the year. Eleven are to receive $200 a month and one will receive $300.

Puzzle Of Decent Housing

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is about ready to unveil his program for improving the lot of slum dwellers.

After months of research, he has two major proposals to bring to the Senate floor.

The program basically is simple: more jobs-more housing.

The formula for attaining the stated goals is complex.

What to do about the nation's housing problem has bugged government all of the 20th century.

Congress first appropriated money for a look at slums in American cities in 1892. The elusive answer has not been uncovered yet.

The off-again, on-again federal approach to housing has sputtered and sputtered through the years in a fashion that has left slum blight scattered across the face of the nation.

The 1960 census revealed 36 million persons — one-fifth of the total population — live in housing either dilapidated, deteriorated or without basic plumbing facilities.

Three-fourths of the country's suburban housing is occupied by families with annual incomes of less than $5,000. Many have incomes of less than $3,000 a year.

The affluence of the rest of society keeps pushing decent housing beyond the reach of low-income families. Public housing and federal rent subsidies are the only means some people have of keeping a roof over their heads.

Somehow slums have withstood all efforts aimed at destruction. Today ghettos are festering sores in America the Beautiful and breeding places for all kinds of rebellion and violence.

Sen. Charles Percy was trying to get this message across to his colleagues when he spoke out months ago on home ownership for the poor.

Sen. Kennedy envisions an attack on the issue through a partnership of government and private enterprise.

President Johnson has appointed a committee to come up with proposals to solve the nagging problems.

After Sen. Kennedy's bills are introduced and compared to Sen. Percy's proposal, the door will be wide open for a full Senate airing of the slum-ghetto issue.

It is time for bold, imaginative thought and action to relieve a buildup of pressure threatening to rip the country apart.

For Art's Sake

Resumption of the art show by the Midland Knights of Columbus is a welcome pleasure for district artists, art lovers and the average viewer who doesn't know much about art but knows "what I like."

The exhibit, in which John Chuldenko of Midland won "best of show" and other artists received awards, added to the annual Fourth of July festivities and will remain open through July 15 at the K. of C. Hall on Midland Ave.

This show is one of the few opportunities for display of original talent, a local avenue of expression which indicates creativity need not be confined to the major cities, to isolated colonies of the east and west coasts.

The Midland Knights of Columbus are providing a real service to the tri-state district on a cultural level, and deserve the commendation and continued support of all the area communities.

Anything But Perfect

Essential difference between a gross receipts tax and a state sales tax on all goods and services is responsibility for payment.

A one per cent gross receipts tax and an across-the-board sales tax of two cents on the dollar both have been proposed in Ohio — the former by people working with the approval of the Rhodes Administration, the latter by the Ohio Retail Merchants Association.

Ohio merchants have their eye on that essential difference.

They would be responsible for the gross receipts tax, which would be levied directly against them, based on a percentage of gross receipts.

Their customers would be responsible for a sales tax on all goods and services, on the other hand. That is a difference with a wallop.

Every merchant would have to be a collector for the sales tax, just as every merchant has been a sales tax collector in Ohio since the sales tax was introduced a third of a century ago.

But a gross receipts tax would leave merchants in the lurch. It would be taken off the top of their gross receipts. It would not take into account differences in costs of different types of business, differences in efficiency, profit margins, or anything else.

Something Big?

WASHINGTON

If President Johnson could just latch onto something solid — and big — it would rocket his popularity. He knows this, but he has had to learn to make frustration seem bearable and the intangible look like an achievement.

The Vietnam war has been around his neck since he took office, the end is not in sight, the critics — tapering off recently — have been after him like hunters after a fox, and the cost in men and money keeps climbing. The Pentagon figures it will need $21.8 billion for the war alone these next 12 months.

But he has made peace gestures which the North Vietnamese spurned and both parties in Congress, except for scattered critics, are behind him. Nevertheless, unless he can start peace talks before the 1968 presidential campaign, in which he will almost certainly run again, he will have to do a lot of explaining.

IF THIS seems a handicap, the Republicans are in a box, too. They almost certainly will not pick an anti-war candidate, which leaves them in the role of backing the war but complaining about how it has been handled. And the Republicans have been critical of their own critics.

They gave an illustration of this a couple of months ago when the staff of the Senate Republican Policy Committee turned out a 91-page report on the war, much of it critical, and the Republicans began quarreling among themselves.

By shrewd handling of himself in all this, mostly in recent months, Johnson has been careful about what he said on the war, thus leaving his critics with few of his own words to throw back at him or turn against him.

They have had to content themselves with complaints about the purpose, the validity, the tactics and the strategy of the war, all of which are in the field of abstractions and not of personality.

Thus, while the United States under Johnson has suffered continued frustration in this war it has learned to bear the war patiently, so much so that it backs him in trying to win it if only because now national pride is involved.

Nor can the United States under Johnson take credit for anything in the Middle East war, except staying out of it, which can be considered a negative achievement since the Soviets wanted to stay out also, both sides knowing that if they got in they'd be in against each other. And there is nothing positive Johnson can point to — at this time, anyway — as coming out of his summit meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

BUT JOHNSON handled it well. Kosygin, no matter how tough he sounded later for Soviet policy purposes, blessed the meeting with a

The Retail Merchants Association's job is to look after the welfare of its members.

The tax collectors' chief interest is to amass revenue for the public treasury.

The ideal tax produces maximum revenue with minimum damage.

A gross receipts tax is as far from perfect as a tax could be: it jeopardizes the sources of the revenue it produces.

Summer Fun?

Summer is not necessarily the season of rest and relaxation for all tri-state district residents.

Consider the students attending extra classes or busy at between term jobs, teachers earning additional college credits in special courses, new employees who have not yet rated vacations, employees who took their time off in February, swimming instructors, playlot supervisors, farmers, motel and hotel operators, tour guides, air-conditioner repairmen, ice cream retailers, and on and on.

Be kind to these people, be considerate. They not only have their tasks to perform, they also bear the heat, suffer the envy of seeing others enjoying themselves and — worse yet — most face the prospect of undergoing the same misfortune next summer.

By James Marlow

manner which seemed grateful. If Johnson achieved nothing positive at the conference, at least he built a bridge that might be useful later.

Here Johnson made the intangible seem real and worthwhile.

But all this puts the Republicans who challenge him in 1968 in the position of having to criticize frustrations and find fault with intangibles because these last two years of the Vietnam war have been a kind of marking - time period.

Johnson's moment of great and positive achievement came with the record - breaking list of legislation he got through Congress in 1965. But the memory of that is getting dim and the country since then, absorbed by the war, has been only bumping along.

Oases Bloom

Saudi Arabia has launched an extraordinary national program to convert desertlands into green farms.

With revenues from oil, the Arab nation is hand-building an oasis in a desolate region between Riyadh, the capital, and the Persian Gulf Coast. The oasis will tap water from subterranean sources, the National Geographic Society says.

In Saudi Arabia and many other desert regions, vast pools of fresh water under parched sands on the earth's surface. Much is so-called "fossil water" from rains that fell up to 40,000 years ago.

In some places, man already has beaten back the desert; citrus plantations flourish and cattle herds graze on former wastelands. Under the Sahara, the world's biggest desert, the French discovered an immense aquifer, or water-bearing basin, replenished by runoff from the Atlas Mountains. This water now fills Moroccan swimming pools as well as irrigation systems.

In the United States, Tucson and Phoenix — essentially urban oases — thrive on water from reservoirs and deep wells. Many newcomers find a strange charm in living in the stark grandeur of a desert while enjoying all the comforts that a modern city can offer.

This 'n That

The "wettest state" in the U. S. is Louisiana, which has an average yearly rainfall of about 55.11 inches.

The northeastern United States has 25 per cent of the nation's population, but only 6 per cent of its land and water area.

The air travel time for transcontinental passenger flights across the United States has decreased more than 75 per cent since it began.

'They're Arguing On Who Fired First'

VICTOR RIESEL

Pope Paul Discusses Labor

ROME: — All roads, these days, lead to dialogues in Rome, in the Vatican and with His Holiness himself.

In the deep privacy of Pope Paul's study and in the brain-drain discussions of these academicians, businessmen, bankers and labor leaders, the basic theme is of revolution — social and electronic.

In the Vatican and in the smoke-filled hotel conference chambers the pulsating question, asked and answered is: Can capitalism survive such revolutions, can it feed the poor, can it profit the competent, can it withstand the assault of Moscow and Peking, can it stand up against the electronic brain of modern cybernetics?

On the afternoon of Friday, June 23, Pope Paul discussed much of this with a group of businessmen brought together here from three western continents. A few days later he talked with a smaller band of men.

One dialogue at the International Institute for Pro-Deo blended with a subsequent one led by Theodore W. Kheel, the labor mediator, who is president of the American Foundation on Automation and Employment.

KHEEL'S DIALOGUE brought together some of the toughest theorists from academic, industrial and labor circles of three nations under the umbrella title of "International Conference on Automation, Full Employment and a Balanced Economy." His philosophy was, and is, to put them into one room and let them talk things out. And most of them concluded that especially in the U.S. Automation is a boon, and there will not be any real unemployment ever, and that the computer will continue to make millions of jobs decade after decade.

Out in the corridors, during coffee breaks, the men of labor and business and academia talked of the early fright — back in 1948 — when the late genius Norbert Wiener of M.I.T. developed the science of cybernetics and talked of man's ability to create an electronic brain which could "program" a machine, put it out on the Mesabi iron range, and let it reproduce itself. With $2 billion worth of equipment the machine could dig the ore, smelt it, refine it, stamp it and assemble its duplicate.

For years, disturbed labor leaders called such automation a "curse." Such labor leaders here as the typographical union president Bert Powers, and the Machinists, second in command, Matthew DeMore, still are wary of it. But all agree that in the long run it will produce endless millions of jobs.

One American businessman estimated that at least two million "programmers and systems analysts" will be needed in the coming decade.

The conclusion here — and it can be presumed that it was discussed during the dialogues with Pope Paul over his recent encyclical on capitalism — is that the electronic revolution can remake a free society swiftly for the poor as well as for the more fortunate stratas of society.

FOR EXAMPLE, Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League, was here with private reports on President Johnson's new big cities committee which met in the White House the other day. Actually that committee was created, and union chiefs such as the electrical brotherhood leader, Joe Keenan were named to it, to bring together unions and contractors of the building and construction field. So much revolutionary progress has been made in this area that whole cities can be revamped almost overnight if the labor leaders permit the construction companies to implement their own electronic and technical revolution.

Ted Kheel led a 10-man labor management delegation to the Vatican on Wednesday June 28. Speaking in English during this private audience, His Holiness approved their efforts to harness automation for the good of all by convincing policy makers of labor and capital to work together.

"You have studied the problems of automation," said the Pope to the American group, and of the provision of full employment despite the introduction of faster and more efficient instruments. These problems are most serious for those with fewest opportunities for education and training; and we encourage all your efforts to secure the full benefits of modern society for all its members without regard or discrimination for any motive whatever."

THE PROBLEM is to wipe out labor fear of automation and revolutionary new techniques in building. If this could be done, the millions of the poor working or not, could be rehoused and would no longer be a huge receptive maw for Soviet and Maoist propaganda.

And in the dialogues here, it is pointed out that once a controversial U.S. vice-president by name of Henry Wallace believed himself to be a daring revolutionist by calling for a nation with 60 million jobs.

That was just about 20 years ago. Today we have at least 80 million in the U.S. work force. And we think nothing of it. The number will skyrocket through the electronic revolution and its computers have been with us these past two decades.

So from this dialogue it is hoped that the labor leaders will return and convince their fellow unionists that there is nothing to fear in the "short run" as well as the "long one."

The other dialogue at the Pro-Deo Institute and with Pope Paul has resulted in an unpublished 15-man international commission (five businessmen from the U.S., Latin America and Western Europe) which will report on capitalism and Catholicism when next it returns here.

Since this is the 50th year after Lenin's October putsch inside Russia, the international dialogues of free men are the truly dramatic developments which will reshape history.

DAVID LAWRENCE

More Vietnams?

The United States is confronted with the possibility of a half-dozen or more Vietnam-type conflicts.

The Castro government of Cuba, supported by the Soviet Union, has instigated an extensive series of guerrilla wars designed to harass the military forces of governments in Central and South America.

A comprehensive report just issued by a subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee declares Castro has expanded his list of target countries and is holding on July 28 in Havana a conference of Communist parties from various areas in Latin America to plan more subversive and terrorist activities.

At present, the report says, "there are guerrilla movements of significance" in Venezuela, Colombia, Guatemala and Bolivia.

Details of these operations are furnished by the House committee, based on an extensive investigation and public hearings.

THE QUESTION is whether some of the principal countries in the world are going to cooperate with the United States in preventing Cuba from carrying out its plots. The House committee — which heard testimony from officials of the State Department and the Defense Intelligence Agency — makes these findings:

"Cuba is still receiving considerable assistance from our 'friends and allies.' Such assistance results in improving Cuba's economy as well as furnishing Castro with additional resources to expand his revolution.

"The British are trading with Cuba and recently completed a credit guarantee for a large fertilizer plant, despite our protests. At least nine members of the Organization of American States have remonstrated with the British government, but to no avail.

"A number of other countries have granted credits to Cuba, including Spain, Japan, France, the Benelux countries, Morocco, the United Arab Republic, Italy and Canada. Canadian wheat, purchased by the Soviet Union and shipped to Cuba, amounted to $208 million in 1965, according to the latest figures available.

"The United States should urge other members of the Organization of American States to join with it in taking the most forceful measures practicable toward terminating entirely all significant trade between the free world and significant trade between the free world and Cuba."

Realistically, the only effective method of cutting off trade with Cuba is a blockade. When a nation is virtually in a state of war with other governments, as is the case with Cuba, measures can be taken to "quarantine" the perpetrator of a widespread aggression.

THE ORGANIZATION of American States already has adopted resolutions condemning the government at Havana for "aggression and intervention" and recommending suspension of diplomatic relations as well as trade and shipping between member countries and Cuba. It is significant that only Mexico has not complied with the 1964 decision to cut off relations with Cuba.

OAS has also proclaimed the right of its members to engage in individual or collective self-defense, "including armed force, if Cuba persists in aggressive and interventionist acts."

The Soviet Union, too, is on notice to keep missiles and other aggressive weapons out of Cuba, and the House committee report says OAS has urged that "member countries take all necessary individual or collective measures, including armed force, to assure this."

Although an agreement was reached in 1962 between the late President Kennedy and the Khrushchev regime in Moscow to dismantle the missile bases set up in Cuba, there is no certainty as to how many weapons remain.

THE HOUSE committee declares a large supply of arms is present in Cuba, as well as about 5,000 Soviet nationals. These include a "military assistance group" of around 2,000 which, the committee says, "helps in maintaining and operating the Soviet equipment turned over to Cuba."

While there is no evidence to indicate that Soviet combat troops are in Cuba, it is clear that Soviet military aid has increased since September 1966.

This, the committee says, could be "a phase of the necessary Soviet replacement and resupply program for the equipment introduced in 1962."

Cuba's air defense capability, moreover, is being modernized.

But the primary threat posed to the hemisphere by the Soviet-Castro conspiracy is, as the committee points out, "the continuing support of Communist insurgency activities in Latin America."

Defense Department Move

Service Volunteers Due Permanent Medical Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department plans to continue permanently its program providing corrective medical treatment to service volunteers who otherwise would be rejected for health reasons.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara set up the program on a trial basis last Feb. 1 as part of an effort to qualify for service 100,000 men a year who normally would be rejected for physical conditions or sub-standard scores in military aptitude tests.

Only men with disqualifying medical conditions that can be corrected at military facilities within six weeks of enlistment are eligible for the program. These include individuals needing minor surgery or having weight problems.

Volunteers get full pay and benefits while undergoing treatment at government expense. They are kept under medical supervision after treatment until certified as fully qualified to undergo the rigors of normal basic combat training.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department reports Negro voter registration in five Deep South states has risen from 700,000 in August 1965 when the Voting Rights Act was passed to about 1.25 million now.

The current registration — a 78 per cent increase in 22 months — represents more than half the eligible Negro voters in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, it said Thursday.

Census figures for 1960 indicated a Negro population of 2.4 million eligible to vote in the five states.

State Denies Charge

NAACP Official Blasts Ohio On Job Bias Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state is using "every possible ruse" to avoid complying with a federal judge's order forbidding Ohio to sign contracts with contractors who discriminate against Negroes, an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People charged Thursday.

State officials immediately denied the charges made by David G. McConnell, chairman of the Labor and Industry Committee of the Columbus NAACP branch.

McConnell charged that Ohio is not complying with the order issued in May by Judge Joseph P. Kinneary, forbidding the state to sign construction contracts with contractors who do not hire Negro craftsmen.

John McElroy, administrative assistant to Gov. James A. Rhodes, said there has been an "apparent misunderstanding."

"We are working hard to try and get things developed so the Kinneary order can be a precedent for other cases in Ohio and so construction can go forward and give jobs to both Negro and white workers," McElroy said.

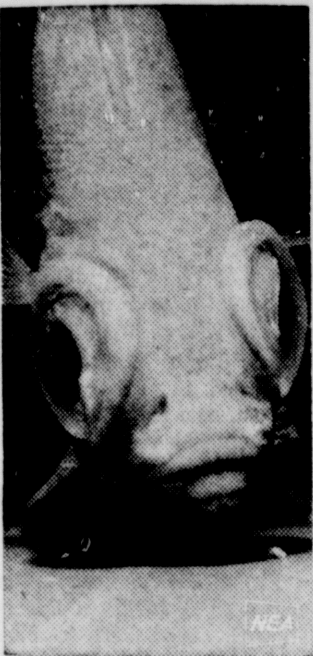

The Kinneary order was issued in connection with construction of a $12 million medical sciences building at Ohio State University.

McConnell said "construction elsewhere in the state has also been held up pending resolution of the issues involved." He also charged that Rhodes' aides have tried "unsuccessfully to persuade the NAACP to agree to soften the impact of Kinneary's order."

McConnell said that a pre-award conference to determine the ability of contractors to carry out antidiscrimination clauses of their contracts was called off Thursday at the request of state officials.

The NAACP leader said "no reason" was given for postponing the meeting, but McElroy said it was called off at the request of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development so the federal officials could learn more about Kinneary's order.

The first extensive hard-surfaced road in the United States was completed in 1794. This was the Philadelphia and Lancaster Turnpike, was 62 miles long, and was surfaced with hand-broken stone and gravel.

Vietnam

his plane was downed by ground fire Thursday night. Marine officers believed a Soviet-made surface-to-air missile hit his plane.

The U.S. Command announced the loss of three more planes: an Air Force Thunderchief Wednesday and an Air Force two-man Phantom Thursday, both over North Vietnam, and a reconnaissance plane near Saigon today. The reconnaissance pilot was rescued, but the other three fliers were missing.

A U.S. spokesman said 13 men were aboard the two B52s that collided 65 miles southeast of Saigon. He said seven of the crewmen parachuted and were rescued from the South China Sea by helicopters and naval craft. A search was being made for the other six.

Two of the eight-engine $8 million planes, which bomb enemy positions in South Vietnam unseen from 30,000 to 50,000-foot altitudes, collided and crashed northwest of the Philippines on June 18, 1965, en route to the first B52 raid on South Vietnam. That was the only other B52 loss reported in the more than 10,000 sorties the Stratofortresses have flown against targets in South Vietnam.

The B52 crash was the Air Force's second in three days. A Stratofortress which the Air Force said was on a training mission fell into the sea and exploded Wednesday about half a mile north of Puerto Rico. Three crewmen were rescued and four are still missing.

The two which collided today were on their way to bomb targets in South Vietnam, with each probably carrying about 50,000 pounds of bombs. B52s mounted nine raids Thursday, a record for a 24-hour period. The raids were aimed primarily at the A Shau valley area on the Loatian border due west of Da Nang. The valley is a hotbed of enemy strongholds and infiltration routes. The B52s returned to the A Shau area Thursday night.

The planes, which have a range of 7,000 miles and can fly at 650 miles an hour, attack from bases in Guam and Thailand, but the U.S. Command in Saigon does not disclose where specific flights begin.

2 Girls Reprimanded In False Alarm Case

Wellsville Fire Chief Robert Lewis said today that two young girls who reportedly sent in a false alarm Wednesday have been reprimanded.

A fire alarm box at 20th and Commerce Clark Ave. was pulled at 1:25 p.m. Wednesday by a 4-year-old girl, who allegedly was boosted up to the switch by her 9-year-old sister.

Lewis reminded that parents are responsible for such actions by their children and said detection often is obtained through dust prints on the sender's hands or from witnesses' description.

U.S. Sources Make Report

Arms Aid To North Viet By China, Soviet Bared

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist China has supplied North Vietnam more than 750,000 small arms, many of which have been shipped on to Communist forces fighting in South Vietnam, U.S. sources report.

The Soviets have furnished the North Vietnamese more than 10,000 artillery pieces, mortars and other heavy weapons.

These figures, gathered from a variety of U.S. government sources, indicate the scope of Soviet and Red Chinese aid to North Vietnam, the main supplier of the Communist Viet Cong as well as North Vietnamese regulars in South Vietnam.

The volume of cargo unloaded by Soviet ships at Haiphong, North Vietnam's chief port, reached a record level of more than 200,000 tons in the first three months of this year.

U.S. experts calculate that Soviet military aid to North Vietnam totaled close to $1.5 billion from 1955 through last year. Chinese military assistance to North Vietnam came to nearly $200 million through 1966.

Economic aid to North Vietnam from all Communist sources reached $1.5 billion during this period. About half came from Moscow, a little less than half came from China and some 10 per cent from Red nations of eastern Europe.

The war in Vietnam currently is costing the United States about $25 billion a year.

The current assessment by knowledgeable U.S. officials is that even without help from the Soviet Union or China, North Vietnam could continue the war, but its effort would be much less effective. This assessment also covers action in Laos.

U.S. experts believe shutting off the port of Haiphong would magnify North Vietnamese problems and drain material and human resources.

But if the Soviets and Chinese kept up basic support in the face of a port closure, American analysts are convinced North Vietnam could continue the present degree of operations in both South Vietnam and Laos.

The Soviets, it was said, could use south Chinese ports, shifting to rail transportation there, instead of sending goods into Haiphong as now. Crude oil could be shipped to Chinese refineries and refined products transported to North Vietnam by train.

This supposes the Chinese would permit such action. Although the Soviets and Chinese are bitter foes politically, indications are the Chinese are not interfering with present Soviet overland shipments through China to North Vietnam.

China is providing most of the small arms, ammunition, anti-aircraft artillery, some heavy weapons and some trucks to North Vietnam, U.S. experts say. Moscow is furnishing virtually all of the petroleum supplies to North Vietnam, with some small amounts from Romania.

The Soviet Union also is sending North Vietnam most of its radar, surface-to-air missiles, MIG jet fighters, heavy weapons and some of its trucks.

More than 95 per cent of the small arms, artillery and ammunition enters North Vietnam by rail—which makes vitally important the two main railroad lines connecting Hanoi with China.

About 90 per cent of the petroleum supplies are carried to North Vietnam by sea. All of the trucks, essential to moving heavy military cargoes toward South Vietnam, also arrive in North Vietnam by sea.

AFL-CIO Seeks Better Ties With Its Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO is reported considering today a major effort to improve communications with its 13.5 million members after receiving a secret report that labor leaders are seriously out of touch with the rank and file.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who has the only complete copy of the report locked in his safe, reportedly has had some of the labor movement's top brains working for months on the problems it poses.

The report, based on the most extensive survey ever made among union members, concludes that labor leaders aren't talking the same language as their members on many political, economic and social issues.

The 72-year-old Meany was upset by the extent of disagreement among union members with AFL-CIO policies shown by the report, said an informed source.

The AFL-CIO paid for the survey, taken among some 3,000 members of 11 unions by the New York polling firm of John F. Kraft Inc.

Labor leaders are calling the problem outlined in the report a "communications gap" or a "generation gap" between older labor leaders and their increasingly younger memberships.

A special AFL-CIO committee is considering proposals to increase vastly distribution of its publications, sponsor five-minute network radio commentaries, educational television programs and newspaper supplements to get across the message of organized labor leaders.

The Kraft survey showed many union members disagreeing with AFL-CIO political endorsements, civil rights activities and legislative goals on Social Security, minimum wages, unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation.

The poll showed more were concerned about increasing taxes, the effect of desegregation on property values and other issues closer to home.

The poll was initiated as a post-mortem on last November's election losses by many Democratic candidates backed by the AFL-CIO.

The survey "showed only 35 per cent supporting AFL-CIO policies" on some issues, said one informed source.

On some matters sacred to top labor leaders, younger union members apparently couldn't care less.

These included repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act under which 19 states now outlaw contracts requiring all workers to join the union.

Wellsville

Paul Spayde, assistant state superintendent of schools.

Spayde pointed out the Wells-ville levy was one of 41 school issues defeated by voters around the state in May, a loss rate of 45 per cent among 92 issues up for a vote.

The growing difficulty in gaining approval of school issues, he suggested, is illustrated by the fact 98 per cent of the issues considered in Ohio in 1947 passed, but by 1966 the percentage had slipped to 75 per cent.

The emergency rider was placed back in the bill Wednesday only over strenuous opposition from State Sen. Charles Carney, D-Youngstown.

Carney claimed special elections cost money school districts cannot afford. And Sen. Ralph S. Regula, R-Stark, pointed out a district would save expenses by waiting until November's general elections.

Less Juice And Jam

MELBOURNE — Australians are drinking more wine. Figures issued by the Commonwealth statistical show that in 1965 Australians averaged 1.3 gallons a head. For three years before, it was 1.2 gallons and in 1961 only 1.1 gallons. The figures also showed that Australians are eating less fresh fruit and less jam.

Spending

appreciably outrun first estimates."

The committee predicted a possible $4 billion to $6 billion jump in war costs in fiscal 1968 that began July 1 over administration estimates of $21.8 billion.

The administration originally calculated fiscal 1967 Vietnam costs at $10.6 billion. That figure was hiked to $19.9 billion last January and administration officials have said the total could reach $20.4 billion when all bills are in.

The committee said because Congress wasn't given more accurate estimates, it was unable to consider in the true light the need for a tax increase or federal spending cutback to keep the economy on an even keel.

The panel said the President should take adequate economic measures to compensate for increased military spending.

President Johnson's bid for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes has been described by administration officials as a means to pay for the war while avoiding inflation and the economic squeeze of the past 12 months.

Thief Gets $2 To $4
At Eagles In Lisbon

LISBON — The Eagles Home here was broken into early today and between $2 and $4 in change was taken from the cash register.

Patrolman Richard Koffel found a ripped window screen and open door during a routine check of the building at 5:30 a. m. He said the intruder apparently entered through the window, squeezing between the raised sash and a boxed-in ventilating fan.

Koffel said everything was in order when he checked the outside about 4:15. He called Pete Paulini, bartender, who gave the estimate of money taken. Pennies in the register were not disturbed.

Burglar Gets
Coins, Vodka
In Food Store

Police pressed a search today for a burglar who obtained $25 to $28 in change and six bottles of vodka in an East End food store and a vandal who touched off a big firecracker in a window of the Christian Science Society reading room on St. Clair Ave.

The entry at Ferello's Market at 549 Mulberry St., owned by Victor Ferello of Broadview Circle, netted the intruder the coins from the cash register, plus the six bottles of vodka valued at a total of $11.89, two six-pack cartons of beer and an undetermined quantity of cigars, police said.

The burglary was discovered Thursday morning by Virgil Marrelli, an employee. The intruder apparently entered through a door on the northeast side of the building. A bar used to secure a door on the southwest side of the structure was found out of place, indicating it was used in exiting, officers said.

The vandalism at the Christian Science Society's room at 2307 St. Clair Ave. was discovered Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. Forrest E. Mercer of St. Clair Ave., owners of the building.

A large firecracker was placed in the lower right-hand corner of the window, causing a blast that broke a 16-x-16-inch pane. A large Bible displayed in the window was damaged by flying glass and the window frame was charred, officers said.

Another 16-x-16-inch pane was broken in the same window, apparently by a stone or BB, officers said. Mr. and Mrs. Mercer said they heard a loud noise Wednesday night about 9, but the damage was not found until the following morning.

Mrs. Caroline Wright, Hookstown, 573-9762
Mrs. L. H. Wagner, Georgetown, 573-9329
Mrs. Raymond Scott, Shippingport 643-8329

Mrs. Wilma Potts of Hookstown was elected to a one-year term as treasurer of Southern Beaver County Jointure Schools at a meeting of the school board of directors at the school board Monday night.

Mrs. Potts has served as treasurer of the Hookstown District in the jointure. She replaces Charles Shane as jointure treasurer. Shane is treasurer of the Greene Township District in the jointure.

Mrs. Rebecca Shinnaberry, formerly a kindergarten teacher at Midland Public Schools, was hired to teach in the elementary school. Miss Lois Ann Swearingen of Hookstown was hired as a clerk for the high school office. She is a graduate of South Side High School and the Ohio Valley Business College.

The board accepted the resignations of George E. Zanic, head football and basketball coach, and Robert R. Pardue, director of guidance.

Zanic who also taught boys' physical and health education classes in the junior and senior high school will teach in the Pittsburgh suburbs. He has held the coaching job since the fall of 1965.

Pardue has been guidance director for two years but formerly taught English and world culture at South Side.

The New Sheffield Branch of the Mellon National Bank and Trust Co. was redesignated as depository for jointure funds.

The board accepted a $5,800 bid by Dickey's Professional Cleaners of Chester for 75 new band uniforms. Although this was not the lowest bid, the contract was awarded because the bid met specifications, officials said.

The Band Boosters Club is sharing one-half of the cost for the new uniforms which will be black whipcord with white trim. These will replace old blue and gold uniforms purchased eight years ago from Mt. Lebanon High School. The Boosters Club plans to raise $1,500 additional to purchase overlays for the uniforms which will permit them to be used as parade uniforms with the overlays, or concert uniforms without.

The Boosters will operate a booth at the Hookstown Grange Fair in August. The band was authorized to perform at the Fair on Aug. 26.

The next board meeting will be Aug. 7 at 8 p.m.

Lisbon Kiwanis Briefed On Cost Of Reappraisal

LISBON — The cost of the current reappraisal of Columbiana County real estate figures out to about $3.40 for each of the 67,000 parcels, Jackson Smith of Lorain told Kiwanis Thursday.

Supervisor of county reappraisal for the United Appraisal Co. of Cleveland, Smith said the low figure is possible only because of the volume — 27,000 individual homes, 4,300 farms, 1,900 commercial properties and 50 industries in addition to vacant lots.

The county's $227,500 contract with United calls for the work to be completed by June 30, 1968. The new valuations will appear on tax duplicates for collection in 1969.

Only four of the 14 people working on the county reappraisal are from outside the county, Smith said. He was introduced by County Auditor Kenneth Bell, who contracted for the reappraisal in compliance with an order from the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals Department of Taxation. John Wargo, county auditor and a former employee of United, was program chairman.

Dan Myers, president, was in charge. Harry Morris and Frank Adomitis, president and vice president of the Lions Club, were guests for the weekly luncheon in the Masonic Temple. Kiwanians honored them in recognition of the 50th anniversary of the Lions organization.

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Take 5 More Lives

By The Associated Press

A Newark woman struck by a car which swerved onto a sidewalk is among Ohio's latest traffic fatalities.

The dead: Mrs. Robert Hemmerly, 54, Newark.

Roy Vollmar, 77, Bowling Green.

Susan Mary Fresh, 67, Sandusky.

Virgil Rupp, 24, Salem.

Marcus Rawls, 8, Cleveland.

Mrs. Hemmerly was struck Thursday by a car driven by Mrs. Carolyn Ann Kolberg, 37, of Coshocton who told authorities the brakes on her car failed and she drove onto the sidewalk in Newark to avoid striking another auto.

Susan Fresh was killed and four persons in the car she was driving were injured Thursday when the car struck a tree as she tried to avoid hitting another auto coming out of a driveway. The accident occurred on Portland Road near the Ohio Turnpike, south of Sandusky.

Vollmar was hit by a car and killed Thursday night just west of the Toledo city limits, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

Rupp was a passenger in a car which left a Mahoning County road and struck a tree at Lake Milton early Friday. Sheriff's deputies said Rupp was thrown from the car.

Young Rawls was struck and killed Thursday night when he ran from behind parked cars into the street near his home. The driver was not held.

'Big E' Returns From Viet Tour

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—The Big E rested at Alameda Naval Air Station after a second tour of combat duty off Vietnam.

And the 5,300-man crew of the 90,000-ton, nuclear-powered carrier USS Enterprise fanned out on liberty shortly after the huge vessel docked Thursday.

Joy mingled with sadness as the ship was welcomed back noisily-first as it steamed under the Golden Gate Bridge with an estimated 2,500 looking down from the span, then by crowds on San Francisco piers, and finally by 4,000 relatives and friends at its home dock.

The Enterprise, the world's largest warship, came home without 14 of her sons — fliers who went down during the 229-day tour.

Half Dollar, Scarce Item, Coming Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The half-dollar, a scarce item in recent years, shows signs of reappearing in significant numbers on the U. S. money scene.

That's the word from Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury and the man who supervised the Treasury Department's recent crash program to end the coin shortage.

Except for half-dollars, that shortage has been declared officially at an end.

Wallace said, however, there are encouraging signs for the half-dollar. He's had reports of more and more of them finding their way into circulation and many banks now have halves available where in the past they had virtually been unobtainable.

But Wallace said he's not yet ready to declare the half-dollar shortage ended. The supply, he said in a Thursday interview, still falls far short of demand.

In addition to the basic coin shortage which developed several years ago partly because of increased use of vending machines, the newer half-dollar was saved as a memento of the late President John F. Kennedy, whose likeness appears on those minted in recent years.

Wallace said the ban imposed May 18 on export of silver coins should help the half-dollar hold its own. But just when the shortage can be declared ended is a question on which Wallace hesitates to speculate.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:

Sardonyx is one of the most expensive birthstones.

FACT:

The sardonyx is found abundantly, so its price is lower than many stones. This alternate August birthstone, a beautiful brown-red, is favored by men, while women usually lean to the other August stone, the olive green Peridot, which is called the "evening emerald" because of its nocturnal glow.

CONCLUSION:

You will find an excellent choice of birthstone rings in our stock and other fine jewelry for every gift occasion. Come in!

Hints from Heloise

- By Heloise Cruse -

Dear Folks: Did you ever get up in the morning and while still stumbling around in the kitchen with one eye half open, gasp that first sip of coffee and burn the living daylight out of your tongue? Wow, does that hurt.

The way I prevent this (which incidentally I've been doing for years and all of my friends have been telling me to write about; is after stirring that cup of coffee — drop in an ice cube and let it float on top. Do not stir again.

The ice will cool that first big gulp and by the time you have a few swallows, the coffee in the bottom of the cup is still hot!

Sure saves a scalded tongue! HELOISE.

P.S. And if you keep extra ice cubes in the drip tray under the freezing compartment as we suggested, you won't even have to open a tray.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is my idea for amusing children when traveling by car:

I buy a small inexpensive gift for each day we will be traveling and wrap them in pretty, colored paper.

Then I write the days that they are to be opened on the outside and place them all in a box.

Each day my son has a new toy or trinket to play with, and more to look forward to.

I find this fun for any age. MRS. G. D.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's another nylon net goodie.

When baking, I needed to sift some flour but had no sifter. So I cut the end out of an empty pound coffee can and removed the plastic cover from the other end.

I covered one end with a piece of nylon net held with a rubber band. Poured in the flour and sifted away. It worked dandy.

Works as well as any sifter and is so much easier to clean since the net may be removed and rinsed under your cold water faucet.

MRS. T. BRATTAIN.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a convenient way to keep your potted plants watered when you will be gone from home for a week or so.

First water the plant as usual. Then place a heavy, wet string on the soil with one end of the string in a jar of water.

The string acts like a wick if you have the jar of water higher than the plant. Also, the water goes through a hemp string faster than a cotton one.

EILEEN WINKELMAN.

Ever thought to put the plants in your bath tub, cover with a plastic garment bag after putting a few ice cubes on top of soil? Acts as perfect hot house this way.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have a typewriter that moves around as you type, try looping some masking tape with the sticky side out. Then stick one end of the tape to the other and place it beneath the feet of the machine on both sides.

Sure keeps you from chasing that typewriter all over the desk.

MRS. BESSIE RILEY.

I tried it, Bessie, and it works. Thank you kindly!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I wrap an ear of corn in foil to place on the grill during a cook-out, I leave the foil on one end a little longer, then twist it to make a handle.

This makes it easy to turn the corn while cooking and also it's easier to remove from the grill.

MRS. WM. SPEICHER.

Yes, that aluminum foil handle will help prevent burned fingers. Also, that delicious corn can be seasoned right in that foil by just slicing it down side and plopping in some oleo and salt.

HELOISE.

40 Attend Fire Class For Nursing Homes

Forty nursing home employees in Wellsville attended a training course Thursday at MacDonald School, Fire Chief Robert Lewis has announced.

The group included all but two of the nursing home workers in the city. One was on vacation and another had a previous commitment, Lewis explained.

"These people are to be commended for the interest they have in methods of evacuation and fire safety," Lewis said.

The course was taught by Frank Jewell, a state fire marshal's office specialist, and Lewis.

Only Whooping Crane Pair In Captivity Has First Chick

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Rosie and Crip, who were rescued from death in the wild to become the only whooping crane couple in captivity, have produced their first chick and are anxiously awaiting a second.

The chick popped out of its shell Thursday two days before officials of the San Antonio zoo expected, but zoo Director Fred Stark said it was "healthy and lively."

Experts tried for more than 10 years to get Rosie to mate. Rosie was taken into captivity 11 years ago after she was found injured.

Two years ago she was sent to a New Orleans zoo to mate with a whooper named George. When that didn't work, Rosie was paired off with Crip, another injured bird rescued from the wild, and sent here last January to set up house keeping.

Rosie delighted the zoo officials by laying the egg June 7 and another two days later.

Thursday Crip took over the sitting chores on the second egg. Fatherhood is nothing new to him. The parent of the first whoopers successfully hatched in captivity, Crip was the mate of Josephine at the Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans from 1950 until she was killed in Hurricane Betsy in 1965.

Their living offspring, George, Georgette, Pepper and Peewee, are still at Audubon Park.

Stark said that in about six months the U. S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, which is attempting to bring the whooper back from the brink of extinction, will take Rosie's chick to Baltimore. Six whooper chicks, from eggs picked up in the wild, were hatched there last month, Stark said.

In a count made last spring, there were 45 whoopers found in the wild. Rosie's chick makes the 13th in captivity and the first in about five years to be bred and hatched in captivity, he said.

Sounds Sensible

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Henry Clay, who served 12 years as speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives and almost 20 years as senator, once asked an Irishman why he was going to vote for one - armed Sen. John Pope, Clay's opponent in a congressional race.

"Mister Clay," was the reply, "I have concluded to vote for the man who has but one arm to thrust into the treasury."

Political Fight Shaping Up In Cincinnati Racial Strife

CINCINNATI (AP) — Things were quiet again in Cincinnati's streets Thursday night, but a political fight was shaping up over the recent racial disturbances and more firemen were sworn in as special policemen.

Safety Director Henry Sandman began swearing in firemen Thursday and said each fire truck should carry two men armed with shotguns if it has to go into a riot area in the future. Some firemen were stoned during the disturbances that hit Cincinnati last month and earlier this week.

The political fight flared up after Rep. Donald D. Clancy, R-Ohio, asked for a congressional investigation of the way money for federal programs — allegedly totaling $42 million — is being spent. He said there is some question about the effectiveness of the programs.

John J. Gilligan, former congressman and Democratic candidate for City Council, called this "the craziest, most irresponsible stunt I've ever seen." Gilligan said the request endangered Cincinnati's chances for future federal aid.

City Manager William C. Wichman, who is leaving town for a vacation until the end of the month, issued a statement late Thursday night, saying he has been suffering from ill health and in fact had offered to resign just before the riots erupted June 12.

In other development, City Council voted to hire 12 more housing inspectors to press the fight against substandard housing—one of the main complaints cited by Negro leaders.

A group of Negro leaders issued a statement accusing policemen of excessive brutality during the disorders.

Fire Chief Bert Luganani said the $1 million fire that destroyed the Cincinnati Sash & Door Co. plant Monday night was caused by arson. Lowell E. Peters, president of the company said he would move the plant out of city limits.

The name "Scotland Yard" is often used to mean a special department of the force called Criminal Investigation Department, or C.I.D., which is one of the most famous police organizations in the world. Scotland Yard gets its name from the building which housed the London police until 1890, after which the police moved into other offices which were named New Scotland Yard.

PITTSBURGH — Thieves stole cash and property valued at $3,364.595 last year in Pittsburgh, according to the city's police service division.

The only walled city in North America is Quebec, in Canada. From its ramparts, Governor Louis de Buade, Comte de Frontenac, defied the English in 1690, and the battlefield on which France lost Canada to Great Britain in 1759 now lies within the City of Quebec.

Group Requests Reinstatement Of Chief At Weirton

WEIRTON—Businessmen and civic club members have begun circulating a petition asking reappointment of Edward Frankovitch as police chief.

The residents will appear at a meeting Monday night to request Council to rescind its action of last week.

Mayor Rybka had submitted the name of the chief for reappointment during a meeting last Saturday, but Council did not give its approval.

Capt. Andrew Olenick has been named acting senior officer in charge of the department until a new chief is appointed.

A spokesman for the citizens' group said more than 1,000 signatures supporting Frankovitch are anticipated.

Frankovitch was named chief four years ago when Rybka became mayor.

Anti-Missile Envisioned By Navy Captain

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man working to get the Navy into the antimissile business says a seaborne U. S. missile defense system would mainly protect allied nations and American bases overseas.

Capt. Robert A. Rowe, a Navy strategic weapons expert, envisioned a Navy antimissile system mounted aboard ships and submarines and available as a key instrument in State Department policy.

Never, Rowe said in an interview, would the Navy's proposed Seaborne Anti-Ballistic Missile Intercept System—SABMIS—be "for defense of the continental United States alone."

SABMIS, he said, would complement and not compete with the nation's land-based Nike X system—a much further advanced missile defense still awaiting administration approval for deployment.

Weirton Man Hidden After Court Action

WEIRTON — Albert Magrini, owner of the Sports Lounge on Main St., and his family have left for an undisclosed destination pending disposition of the U. S. government's action against eight men accused in a nationwide series of holdup plots, a representative of the Department of Justice said.

The official at Buffalo, N.Y., said eight deputy marshals who have been assigned to the Magrini family for the past three weeks have been withdrawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Magrini and their three children resided on Weirton Heights.

The Justice Department spokesman reported, "We can only say now Mr. Magrini is safe, that he is now working and that he and his family are living in the United States."

The representative said Magrini testified early in June before a U. S. Grand Jury in connection with conspiracy charges against three of the eight men. They are Frederico Randaccio, 60, Pasquale Natarrelli, 56, and Nicholas Rizzo, 46, all of Buffalo, who are accused of plotting to rob the People's Bank of Weirton, and the Weirton Savings and Loan Association.

The three were part of an alleged ring of eight accused of conspiring to commit holdups in Weirton, Buffalo and Los Angeles.

All pleaded not guilty yesterday when arraigned in a U. S. Court at Buffalo.

The historic Mason-Dixon Line is the boundary between Pennsylvania and Maryland, running at a north latitude of 39 degrees 43 minutes. The greater part of it was surveyed from 1763 to 1767 by Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, English astronomers who had been appointed to settle a dispute between the colonies. As this line was partly the boundary between the free and slave states, it came to signify the division between the North and the South.

Led To International Wrangle

Israeli Tells Of Attack
On American Ship June 8

On the morning of June 8—the fourth day of the Arab-Israeli war—the U.S. Navy communications ship Liberty was lying off the Egyptian coast when it was attacked by Israeli jets and torpedo boats. Thirty-four U. S. seamen were killed and about 75 injured. An Israeli naval reservist, Micha Limor, was aboard one of the torpedo boats that attacked the Liberty. He tells the graphic details in this story written especially for The Associated Press.

By MICHA LIMOR
Written for The Associated Press

TEL AVIV (AP) — The torpedoes were ready for firing when our three Israeli torpedo boats zeroed in on the gray ship moving slowly on a southeasterly course off El Arish.

At that tense moment, not one of us on those torpedo boats could have suspected that this was the beginning of an incident which was to cause a long drawn-out international wrangle.

On June 8, the sun was already high in the sky when we received notification of an unidentified sailing vessel some 12 miles off the El Arish coast, suspected of being an enemy craft.

Within moments, the face of our torpedo boat changed. Sailors took their positions, engines were revved up, and in five minutes we were moving out in formation, torpedo boat after torpedo boat, toward the deep sea.

We spotted the objective once on the radar screen. She was moving on a steady course, southeast at about 10 knots. We sailed toward the objective at an increased speed, looking at her through binoculars in an effort to identify the vessel.

Two of our planes flew over our heads a few minutes afterward. We saw them circle the ship several times, and then dive into the attack.

They spat two rockets into the gray ship, and plumes of smoke rose from her. Then the two jets headed away toward the coast.

About 2,000 yards from the ship, a strange spectacle met our eyes. The high masts and the many weird antenna showed that this was a warship. The side of the vessel was blotted out by smoke, and apart from three numbers along her side, which meant nothing to us, we could not discern a thing.

We could see no flag on the mast, nor was anyone to be seen on the decks and bridge.

For seamen, this can mean only two things: it was either a ghost ship or an enemy ship.

To us — who do not believe in ghosts — it was clear that this was the enemy.

We spent several minutes trying to contact the ship and demanding identification. We tried by radio and by helicopter, in accordance with internationally accepted methods. But she gave no answer. It also seemed that she had managed to control the fires and continued on a stable course.

It was decided to pass by her in battle formation and demand identification by firing across her bow. So we moved past at a tremendous speed, firing across the empty bridge and the bow. Suddenly a sailor appeared in view and started firing at us with a heavy machine gun from the bridge. We took the challenge and directed cannon against him. A moment later he again and again. This had no fell, together with the machine gun.

Thus there was no doubt that we were faced by the enemy. Three prolonged refusal to identify herself, the absence of any flag, the shooting at us, and above all the weird contraptions on the ship left us without doubt.

We wanted to make the ship surrender without sinking her. Once again we circled the vessel in battle formation, firing effect. No one appeared. No one reacted. The shells caused little damage to the hull and the ship proceeded on its way.

The order was given to prepare for a torpedo attack.

We drew up along the left side of the boat and advanced at full battle speed.

One of the torpedoes hit the boat amidships. There followed an enormous explosion and a huge water spout.

And then fires broke out — the boat leaned sideways as if about to sink. We waited for survivors as is customary for seamen — whether friend or enemy. But no one appeared on deck.

Suddenly something fell into the sea. One of our formation approached and picking it up from the waters found it to be a rubber lifeboat with the lettering "U.S. Navy."

That was the very first sign of identification.

A moment later there arrived on the scene the helicopter that was to have picked up prisoners. He hovered over the boat and then signaled us:

"They are raising the American flag."

It was crystal clear we had hit friends.

Dozens of shells, rockets and torpedoes were needed to drag a sign of identity from them, said one of my seamen who, like the rest of his mates, was bitterly upset at this surprising turn of events.

At the same time, it turned out later shore emplacements also learned that the attacked vessel was the American intelligence boat Liberty.

We received orders directly from the officer commanding the navy to give all necessary help. So we approached the Liberty and offered help, shouting through a loudspeaker.

Then an officer appeared for the first time on the bridge and screamed "Go to hell!"

It seems they didn't want strangers aboard.

Learning they did not need aid, we left. And the Liberty returned to its regular operation. It seemed any other ship would have sunk.

People In News

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — A couple of Navy men's wives had a big idea for welcoming their husbands home on the carrier Enterprise.

Mrs. Neal Devalk of Tinley Park, Ill., and Mrs. Jack Swinehart of Emmaus, Pa., bought a weather balloon and blew it up to 3 1/2 feet in diameter.

They pasted big black letters on the silver sphere spelling: "Happiness—Neal and Jack." Then they found it was too big to get out the door.

"So we broke our front window," said Mrs. Swinehart. "Our neighbors looked at us as if they thought we were crazy."

But their balloon was floating high above the crowd when the carrier pulled in Thursday. Only one problem, said Mrs. Swinehart: "We still haven't fixed the window."

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The county tax commissioner's office seems an unlikely recipient of charity, but it's received an anonymous gift of $1,000.

The envelope containing 10 $100 money orders arrived Thursday together with a note asking that the sum be put in a general tax account.

There was nothing to indicate the sender's identity beyond a Decatur, Ga., postmark.

But Jack Camp, the Fulton County tax commissioner, said the general fund could use the money.

BLANTYRE, Malawi (AP) — President Hastings Banda has assured Malawi tribal dancers that their performances are not sinful as the early missionaries made out and they will not go to hell and burn for them.

Suiting action to words the Malawi president seized a spear and shield and joined tribal dancers here Thursday celebrating the country's first anniversary as a republic.

If any dancing was sinful, Banda said, it was the European and American kind where married people danced with the husbands and wives of others.

Various Committees Chosen
At New Cumberland Meeting

NEW CUMBERLAND — At the first regular meeting of the new Council this week, Mayor Arthur Watson appointed various committees.

The committees follow: Dean Chamberlain, Lawrence Andrews and Robert Mills, auditing; Charles Woolfiter, George Weigle and Robert Mills, lights; George Weigle, William Swearingen and Charles Woolfiter, streets and alleys; Swearingen, Dean Chamberlain and Lawrence Andrews, police affairs; Mills and Chamberlain, recreation; Andrews, Weigle and Swearingen, water and sewerage board; and Swearingen, fire board.

Citizen members of the committees will be announced later. In other action, Council noted the need for a city park, but agreed the location of the present park at the foot of Station St. Hill will not be adequate. All plans for the completion of the park and for the installation of a swimming pool on Chester St. were tabled pending the accumulation of funds to combine the two projects at one location. The benches and picnic tables in the park will be stored until a new site is acquired.

Mayor Watson announced two bids for a new police cruiser have been received. Also, approximately $500 in anonymous donations have been given to the police affairs committee for purchasing new police equipment. The mayor was granted permission by Council to contact the state tax commissioner concerning the possibility of using swimming pool funds for purchasing the new equipment.

Following discussion of the dog problem, it was agreed the city ordinance pertaining to the tagging and leashing of dogs will be enforced within the city as of July 15.

Local Man To Seek Leasing
Of Hancock 'Kennedy Park'

An East Liverpool resident has indicated an interest in leasing Kennedy Park from the Hancock County commissioners, Jack Evans, president, has reported.

Martin Gluchow, operator of the Tri-State Supply Co., and his associates will meet with Richard M. Nugent of Pittsburgh, a representative of the Army Corps of Engineers, to discuss a possible lease.

Any lease for the park must be approved by the engineers.

In other business at this week's meeting, a motion by Commissioner Edward Nagay to request the Hancock County Medical Society to recommend names for appointment to the Hancock County Board of Health died for lack of a second.

A $45,000 budget for the current fiscal year, as submitted by the Hancock County Board of Health, was approved.

In a letter to the court, Andrew Kondik, county Civil Defense director, requested a meeting with commissioners to discuss a four-and-one-half hour simulated nuclear attack to be staged in the county. Commissioners tabled action on setting up the meeting until a schedule is worked out.

A motion by Nagay to purchase two hand "gas guns" if the purchase price is reasonable, was approved. The "gas guns" would be used by personnel in the county dog warden's office in capturing dogs. The guns temporarily blind the dog, permitting capture of the animal. Commissioners also noted that personnel in the warden's department would also be instructed not to destroy dogs in public and to wear the protective clothing which was purchased for them at an earlier date.

Correction of a list of erroneous assessments was approved.

Notary public applications of Janet Marie Jones, Kathleen Davis, R. D. Vagnoni, Beverly Singleton, Charlotte Latkiewicz and Mary Helba were approved.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our firm has a bowling league — husbands and wives. My wife, Tallulah, and I are both on the first team. Tallulah fell last month and broke her collar bone. The team captain suggested Mrs. D. (she lives in his building) as a substitute. Her husband is in the Army in Hawaii.

A week after Tallulah fell, we had league playoffs and she wanted to watch. I told her she was too weak and to stay home. She got our 17-year-old son to bring her. Mrs. D. is a timid woman and I complimented her to build her confidence.

My wife heard me and got sore. Our son got into the act, too. He said, "Mother can bowl better with a broken collar bone than that woman on her best day. Why don't you compliment HER?" He got into quite a hassle and I was pretty embarrassed.

Yesterday Mrs. D. called Tallulah and asked if it would be okay if I took her to shop for some decorations for her club's dinner dance. (She doesn't drive.) Tallulah said, "If you want to become involved with a married man, that's your business, but leave me out of it."

I thought this was very rude and said so. Now Tallulah treats me like I'm a criminal. Mrs. D. doesn't mean a thing to me. I love my wife. What do you think of all this?—EIGHT BALL.

Dear Eight Ball: I think Mrs. D. has more nerve than brains and if you are smart you'll stay away from her and let her get the decorations the same way she'd have got them before she met you.

Sassy Lassie

DEAR ANN: I'm a mother of a 6-year-old girl and a 2-year-old boy. The girl had a lovely disposition until her brother was born. Then she became sullen and disobedient.

I realized she was unhappy at losing the limelight and I charge.

I tried to give her extra love and affection.

For awhile she improved, but about three months ago she became more difficult than ever. When I told her she could not have ALL my attention, that her little brother deserved some, too, she said, "I hate you."

I was sick at heart to think my own child would say such a thing to me. Yesterday she said it again when I insisted that she put away her toys and go to bed. (It was 20 minutes past her bedtime.)

How should I have responded when my child said, "I hate you"?—EL PASO L.

Dear El Paso: When your child said "I hate you," and almost every child says this at some time during childhood (if he doesn't say it, he thinks it), the best reply would have been, "I'm very sorry you hate me, because I LOVE you. And because I love you I'm going to see that you follow the rules around here. Pick up your toys and to bed NOW."

Confidentially

To Friend Or Foe: Kicks like these could kick your marriage right into the divorce court. A good friend would not ask to borrow your husband for an evening as if he were a turkey roaster. Tell her if she is so hard up for a man she should call an Escort Service (New York has several) and pay the guy for his time.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TO THE WINNER. There's more than a $6,000 purse for the winner of The Waterford Mile at Waterford Park tonight. Terry Dailey of Chester admires the large silver two-handled vase on which the winner of The Waterford Mile will obtain one hold. It requires three wins in the event to get permanent possession. The Waterford Mile is the first of six features that will be run at Waterford this year.

Litten's And Woodbine Win Pony League Tilts

Litten's bombed Sevey's, 11-1, and Woodbine whipped Burbick's, 6-1, in Pony League games Thursday.

Randy Talbott limited Sevey's to three hits and was backed up with a 15-hit attack off losing pitcher Cunningham. Jim Moore homered with one aboard in the first. Horozko laced three hits with Moore, Forsythe and Calhoun each collecting a pair. Watson ripped a double for the losers.

Welsh hammered two home runs for Woodbine, each with one on the bases, to pace the victory over Burbick's. He also connected for a single. Marshall picked up the victory and Sevey's absorbed the loss.

Sevey's and Lockhart each laced two hits for Burbick's.

Cardinals Edge Astros, 6-5, To Take Second-Half Crown

Tom Essa's single with two out in the fifth scored Greg Oliver from second with the winning run as the Cardinals edged the Astros, 6-5, at Crucible Field Wednesday evening to capture the second-half championship of the Midland Hot Stove League.

Eddie DiCiccio was the winning pitcher, with help from his brother Dave.

Dave took over with runners on second and third and two out. He walked the first batter he faced and then fanned the next to preserve the victory.

Terry Dick, the losing pitcher, was hit hard at times, but also was the victim of some loose play by his teammates.

Dick and Nixon each had two hits for the losers.

The Astros outthit the Cardinals 7 to 5, but fine defensive play both in the infield and outfield helped turn the trick for the winners.

Jim Ringo, center for the Cleveland Browns has played 168 straight National Football League games.

Cubs Downed; Orioles Shave Chisox Lead

By By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When you can hit a baseball the way Orlando Cepeda can, it's awfully tough to be a goat for very long.

Cepeda proved that Thursday night when he rammed three hits and drove in three runs as the first-place St. Louis Cardinals lengthened their National League lead to 1 game with a 6-5 victory over Cincinnati.

Second-place Chicago dropped its fourth straight game, 4-3 to Houston in the only other National League game played. In the American League's only game, Baltimore stopped Chicago 3-1, shaving the White Sox lead to 2½ games over Minnesota. The Twins open a four-game weekend series at Chicago tonight.

Cepeda, who leads the major leagues in batting with a .359 average, walloped a two-run homer in the fourth inning—his 11th of the year.

But in the eighth, with the Reds nursing a 5-3 lead, the big first baseman made a blunder on the basepaths that cost the Cardinals a potentially important run.

Cepeda opened the inning with a single, setting up the tying run at the plate. But instead of stopping at first, he tried to stretch his hit and was cut down at second on Art Shamsky's throw.

One out later, Mike Shannon was hit by a pitch and then Julian Javier homered, tying the score. Had Cepeda been on base, Javier's shot would have given the Cardinals the lead.

As it turned out, it didn't matter. Cepeda made certain of that an inning later. Bobby Tolan had singled with one out and stole second. After Curt Flood walked and Roger Maris flied out, Cepeda singled Tolan across with the winning run.

Tony Perez hammered his 17th homer and Pete Rose had three hits for the Reds, who dropped four games back of St. Louis. Tim McCarver homered behind Cepeda's fourth-inning shot for the Cardinals.

The Astros hopped on Chicago's Ferguson Jenkins for four hits and three runs before a batter was retired in the first inning and then stood off a late Cubs' flurry for their victory.

Jimmy Wynn drove in two Houston runs with a double and his 20th homer as Bo Belinsky, with ninth-inning help from Carroll Sembera, won his second game. Ed Matthews' bases-loaded single capped the first-inning rally against Jenkins, 11-6.

Ron Santo, who had two doubles among his three hits, scored two of Chicago's three runs.

Paul Blair drove in two Baltimore runs with a homer and a single and Sam Bowens' homer produced the third as the Orioles dropped the White Sox.

Dave McNally went the distance, allowing five hits and evening his record at 5-5. One of the hits off him was a solo homer by rookie Dick Kenworthy.

Jim O'Toole was the loser.

Veteran Glass, Medics Victors In Little League

Veteran Plate Glass topped Traveler's Hotel, 6-3, and Medics downed Parson's Coal, 4-1, in Little League games Thursday.

Cheeks hurled the victory for Veteran Glass and also smashed a three-run homer in the fifth. Campbell was the losing pitcher. Harmon and Hanlon banged out two hits each for the winners and Moffey collected a pair for the losers.

Hocking was the winning pitcher for Medics and Parsons the loser for Parsons. Williams slammed two hits for Medics and Samples pounded out a pair for Parsons.

Chisox Face Twins In Showdown

4-Game Set Expected At Chicago Park

CHICAGO (AP) — A mid-season showdown between the first-place Chicago White Sox and the surging Minnesota Twins opens tonight with Sox Manager Eddie Stanky as calm and collected as his amazing pitching staff.

"Minnesota has a lot of momentum right now, but momentum can be shut off as quickly as it starts," snapped the peppery little Sox pilot despite his club's dwindling 2-game margin over the Twins, who are riding an 8-game winning streak.

The four-game set is expected to pack Sox Park right through Sunday's closing twin-bill.

In the opener, Gary Peters, 10-4, hurled against Minnesota ace, Dean Chance, 11-6.

Commented Stanky: "Is this a crucial series? Any series is important whether it's in May or September. We've had as much trouble with Kansas City and Washington as with Minnesota."

The Sox, who own a 1-1 home record against the Twins and a 3-3 split at Minnesota, have their poorest mark against ninth-place Kansas City, 2-5, and stand 7-5 against last place Washington.

Against Minnesota, which suddenly has whittled Chicago's once comfortable lead, Stanky will start two 10 game-winners in Peters and Joel Horlen, 10-1, plus Tommy John, 7-5, and Bruce Howard, 3-5.

But the name of Chicago's pitching's game is sparking relief work.

The firemen brigade of ageless Hoyt Wilhelm, Bob Locker, Wilbur Wood and Don McMahon astounds even Stanky.

"I've never seen relievers on one team like this one in my heyday," said the onetime star of the old New York Giants.

Wilhelm, 3-1, who turned 44 July 6, has a torrid 0.68 earned run average and Locker, 4-2, has a 1.94. Locker has eight saves in 34 appearances and Wilhelm has seven in 21 games.

TS&T, Roger's, Pusateri's Win In Minor League

Pusateri's, Taylor, Smith and Taylor and Roger's posted victories in the Minor League Thursday with Bob Reed of T.S.&T. spinning a one-hit 2-1 victory over Tri-State Appliance to highlight the day.

Roger's went on a hitting binge to bury M&A Motors under a 20-12 score and Pusateri's downing Potters Bank & Trust, 9-3.

Reed struck out 13 in his victory over Tri-State as Jack Jordan took the defeat. Sayer had the only hit off Reed as Black lined a double for TS&T.

Kenny Montgomery fanned 13 for Pusateri's and cracked a pair of doubles. Mike Arthur was the loser for Potters Bank & Trust. Mike McElroy laced a triple and a single for Pusateri's and Gary Roberts two singles. Kevin Snowden poked two singles for Potters.

Burcham was on the mound for Roger's as they pounded out 14 hits, including two singles and a triple by Jerry Lockhart, Marty Bolton and Craig Dray. Marker and Clutter collected a double and a single each for M&A.

Lawrenceville Whips Newell By 11-2 Score

Lawrenceville trounced Newell, 11-2, as Cornell hurled a one-hitter and blasted two home runs in a South Side Senior League game Thursday.

Craig Whittington took the loss with Vic Reed crashing four hits and Eddie Brewer three.

Packer Star Asks $400,000

Taylor Traded To Saints

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — When the battle-hardened veterans march into the New Orleans Saints' training camp in San Diego Saturday, fullback Jimmy Taylor will be in that number.

Taylor, 31, a Green Bay Packer star for eight seasons, switched to the Saints Thursday in a deal glowing with high finance and announced in the governor's office.

To swing it, Saints owner John Mecom had to make severe concessions to Green Bay even though Taylor's contract had expired and, technically, he was a free agent.

"We've agreed to give up our future—next year's first draft choice — plus a mutually agreed-upon player off our roster at a later date. We can't say who it will be but it'll probably be a veteran," said Mecom.

Taylor, who lives in Baton Rouge, wanted the Saints to support him in high style. He asked a reported $400,000 on a four-year contract, to be paid over a 20-year period. What he actually got was not disclosed.

"The contract is longer than one year," said Mecom. "I Packer buddy, Paul Hornung, would say it is similar to what Green Bay paid him, probably. But nothing like what the press has said."

Green Bay paid Taylor $60,000 per season for his football talents, which include an ability to run over strong linemen as though they were children.

Taylor was offered a raise in an effort to keep him happy at Green Bay but he wanted to leave.

At the San Diego training camp, Taylor will have an old one year, said Mecom. "I Packer buddy, Paul Hornung, would say it is similar to what Green Bay paid him, probably. But nothing like what the press has said."

Irondale Takes League Contest

Irondale defeated M. & A. Motors, 6-4, Thursday evening in a Tri-County League contest at Hammondville.

Don Fraley, the winning pitcher, gave up only four hits and fanned 10. He and John Skraback each had two hits.

L. Ensinger and Massey led the losers' attack with doubles. Conkle, on the mound for M. & A., granted but five hits and struck out 11.

East Liverpool and Irondale will meet in a doubleheader Sunday afternoon, with a barbecue planned between games.

Steubenville Lands East Coast Cage Star

STEUBENVILLE — Brian Wing, a 6-foot-4 standout basketball player at Camden (N.J.) High School, will attend the College of Steubenville this fall. Head Coach Don McLane has announced.

Brian was one of the top scorers on the Camden team which posted a 23-1 record, losing in the finals of the New Jersey high school tournament. The husky lad averaged 14 points and 11 rebounds for Coach Tony Alfano's team, while operating out of a guard position.

He was a member of the New Jersey all-star team which defeated the Pennsylvania all-stars in the Allentown (Pa.) tournament. The Keystone stars featured such players as Ken Durrett of Schenley, Dick DeVenzo of Ambridge and Ken Shamberger of Chester.

Golf Pros-PGA Feud Heads For Convention

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The feud between the touring pros and the Professional Golfers' Association is headed for the PGA convention in November, and a threatened boycott of the national PGA tournament appears to be off.

The players, fighting the PGA executive committee's veto power over tournament operations, achieved their goal in limited form Thursday and voted to honor all commitments the rest of the season.

But they weren't happy. Dan Sikes, tournament committee chairman, said they "will go to the national convention with an amendment to remove the one remaining area of executive committee veto power."

Sikes said the executive committee agreed that for the rest of this year it will not overrule any action taken by the tournament committee with all eight members present, or any decision taken by an advisory committee in the event of a tie in the tournament committee.

The PGA is scheduled for Denver July 20-23.

Max Elbin, president of the PGA, said in Florida players had agreed to abide by an agreement reached at Cleveland June 20.

In the Cleveland agreement, players gave up a 4-3 advantage on the tournament committee, and the addition of an administration member balanced it at 4-4.

The immediate cause of the dispute was the executive committee's veto of a proposed $175,000 Frank Sinatra tournament early this year. Players wanted the tournament, but the committee said it would conflict with the Bob Hope Classic.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — R. H. Sikes went home last week and changed his putting and chipping stance, and his new style helped him shoot a 5-under-par 67 in the first round of the Speedway Open Golf Tournament.

"My chipping was better than it's been in a long time," Sikes said Thursday after a round that put him in a tie for the lead with Rod Funseth.

He used only 25 putts on the round, and the longest that dropped was only 12 feet. One chip also dropped from 25 feet for a birdie.

"I started keeping the blade a little more square and played the ball more off my left foot," Sikes said of his chipping change.

Explaining his putting, he said, "I started standing up to it a little more."

It took good approaching and putting to score as the 7,179-yard Speedway played long in the gusty wind. Lou Graham was right behind the leaders with 68.

Spurrier Gets Starting Post In Star Game

ATLANTA (AP) — Steve Spurrier, Heisman Trophy winner from Florida, was picked today to start for the East at quarterback in the seventh annual Coaches All-America football game Saturday night.

Teacher Corps

Could Start Education Revolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teacher Corps has been de-nationalized in fact as well as in name, but its director says the program still is in a position to start a revolution in American education.

"It's going to be tougher," conceded corps chief Richard A. Graham in an interview. "We're going to have to work harder, and be more persuasive. But that's not bad."

Graham emphasizes the corps now has a firm lease on life. A bill signed last week provides funds for three years.

A few months ago it looked as if the program might become a "Great Society" casualty after just a year in existence. The corps won congressional approval, however, at the cost of yielding much federal authority to local school districts and states.

The emphasis of the modifications was best shown by one that dropped "national" from in front of the program's name.

The biggest change took away the government's total authority over recruiting, selecting and enrolling candidates.

The U. S. Office of Education still foots 90 per cent of the bill, and the federal commissioner will select school districts for the program if there are more applicants than funds.

The corps' primary goal is to find new ways of teaching the nation's deprived youngsters. But Graham says it may bring major changes to the whole American educational system—the way teachers are trained, the way all students are taught.

All but a small part of the training of a teacher-to-be now takes place in the college classroom. And what practice teaching he does usually is in a good school, not a poor or slum school.

Teacher Corpsmen study in class, too. But they also spend at least half a day teaching. And many take part in after-school activities with students and parents.

Mennonite Youths To Assist With County CAC Program

LISBON — Youths in the Mennonite volunteer service will work today through July 16 at the County Home, the County Welfare Department and the East Liverpool Rescue Mission.

Most of them are from Mennonite communities in Leetonia, Columbiana and North Lima.

Miss Catherine Franzetta, director of the Community Action Committee of Columbiana County, Inc., made arrangements for the work detail through the Rev. Marion Bontrager of Cleveland and the Rev. Allen B. Ebersole of the Leetonia Mennonite Church.

Myrna Nussbaum, Roland King, Judy Martin, Wanda Ziegler and Doris Yoder will work at the County Home.

Audrey Ossman of Bedford, group coordinator, and Louise Brunk will assist in the Welfare Department.

Joanne Horst, Millie Ziegler, Harold Trotter and Bill Hawk will work and live at the Rescue Mission.

Miss Franzetta said the group will provide several hundreds of hours service without any drain on the Office of Economic Opportunity funds.

She also pointed out she recently arranged with the Ohio Department of Natural Resources to employ five boys and two girls at Guilford Lake State Park this summer. This is also outside the CAC budget and is in addition to the 60 youths employed in the summer neighborhood Youth Corps program.

They are working in the schools which had NYC programs last school year and in Beaver Creek State Park. Donald Lowe of Wellsville is project director. The three supervisors are Ted Taylor of East Liverpool, William Menough of Wellsville and Robert (Chic) Ashton of Lisbon.

The CAC policy advisory committee met here Wednesday night to discuss a job description for a proposed new post of administrative assistant. Mrs. Helen Welch of Wellsville, CAC president, was in charge. There will be no board meeting this month.

Miss Franzetta, secretary of the Ohio CAC Directors Association, will attend its meeting Monday in Columbus.

Officer Cites Driver In Klondyke Collision

A 49-year-old motorist was cited in a collision that damaged two cars Thursday at 4:37 p. m. in Klondyke, police reported.

Richard F. Swank of 2123 Harvey Ave. was charged with failure to transfer vehicle registration following the mishap on Harvey Ave. 150 feet east of Myrtle St. that damaged his 1961 model station wagon and a 1964 sedan operated by William R. Oliver, 17, of 854 Oak St.

Swank started to pass Oliver at the same time Oliver began to make a left turn into a service station, officers said. The two drivers disagreed on whether or not Oliver's turn signal was operating. The crash damaged the right side of Swank's car and the left side of Oliver's auto, registered to Raymond Oliver of the same Oak St. address. Patrolman Karl W. Samples investigated.

Court Income Falls By $889

Municipal Court revenue hit $6,257 in June, a drop of $889 from the $7,146 in May, it was shown today in the monthly report of Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon.

The city treasury received $5,015 out of last month's receipts, a decline of $910 from the $5,925 the municipality was paid from May revenues.

The city's share of the income was made up of $531 in costs in civil cases, $3,940 in fines, costs and forfeitures from criminal actions and $713 in fines and forfeitures resulting from State Highway Patrol citations.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $713 to the state treasurer, $431 to the county treasury and $96 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled in the court in June was $10,675, a drop of $824 from the $11,499 recorded in May. The sums handled last month included $4,146 in the civil branch and $6,528 in the criminal branch.

A breakdown of cases showed: 41 civil cases filed in June, 38 disposed of and 129 left pending; 96 city criminal cases filed, 74 disposed of and 93 pending, and 120 state criminal cases filed, 130 disposed of and 202 pending.

$24.9 Million In Highway Bids Opened In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department, which opened bids Thursday on $24.9 million worth of projects, reported Friday it had canceled four projects worth $14.8 million scheduled for next Tuesday's bid opening.

Impact of the new federal safety standards on design is responsible for the action, said Ross E. Schultz, deputy director of design and construction.

Schultz said the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads approved earlier plans for the projects but within the past week refused to authorize bids on the basis the plans did not incorporate new design standards.

Three of the four are interstate projects. They include widening of Interstate 71 on a stretch in Franklin County; a 1.92-mile construction of Interstate 475 in Toledo east of U.S. 23, and 1.59-mile construction of Interstate 80 from the east to the west corporation line of Girard in Trumbull County.

The other project is a 3.06-mile leg of the U. S. 23 bypass in Marion.

Schultz said more projects may have to be canceled.

He said the new design standards are an "overnight change in thinking" about safety. The major problem is on projects for which plans have already been completed. It will not be too hard to change projects that are just in the design state, he added.

Cable TV Firm, With LBJ Ties, Reports Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Austin, Tex., cable television company owned in part by President Johnson's family claims losses of nearly $900,000 during the 3½ years ended last August.

Capital Cable Co. listed Thursday with the Federal Communications Commission records showing losses of $881,824 since it began operations in January 1963.

Fifty per cent interest in Capital Cable is held by Texas Broadcasting Co., a firm in which Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson holds 52.8 per cent interest while the President's two daughters each have 15.45 per cent interest.

Capital Cable recently asked the FCC to waive a rule that requires community antenna systems to protect local stations if the stations request.

Teacher Loyalty Oath Described As Illegal

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's loyalty oath for public school teachers has been described as unconstitutional by state Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Sills.

The attorney general's office said Thursday that the loyalty oath requirement conflicted with recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

It advised abandoning the oath immediately and suggested a toned-down substitute version.

New Guidelines Established For Federal Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, backing President Johnson's call for a ban on police bugging and electronic snooping except in national security cases, has set stiff new guidelines for federal agencies.

Clark's main point in a lengthy set of instructions issued to federal law enforcement agencies since June 16 requires that they get advance written approval from him before undertaking electronic surveillance.

The only exception to that rule, Clark wrote, would be when an emergency situation arises involving national security and he cannot be reached immediately.

In that case, said the attorney general, electronic snooping can be authorized by the head of the investigatory agency involved — on condition that Clark receives a full explanation within 24 hours.

He said in such emergency cases, conversations overheard should be recorded if possible on tapes. He said the tapes or other types of transcripts should be considered specially classified by the agency and kept secret from other agency personnel.
